This season has been very hard on old people. The number of deaths within the past month or so, in the ranks of the aged has been remarkable. The variable weather, with change from warm to very cold has brought death into the midst of many families.

Orbrey Sterner went to his home Sunday and spent the day. He started back to Keytesville Monday morning in a rig but got as far as Chraneville or near there, when he decided walking the lesser of the two evils and footed it to Keytesville a distance of about seven miles. He was cold when he arrived.

Rev. A. C. Johnson, Presiding Elder, Fayette District Methodist church preached in the union revival service at the Baptist church Saturday evening and at the Methodist church Sunday morning and held the quarterly conference. Rev. Johnson was heard by large congregations at both services.

Hon. W. R. Rucker, a member of the Presidential Inaugural Committee, said in regard to having a reception and ball on the occasion of Wilson's inauguration, March 4: "The proposal to hold a public reception at the Capitol is not in any sense a part of the ceremonies of inauguration—consequently I do not think that it lies within the province of our committee."

Some of our sports hid a case of beer in the basement of one of their homes. At the stag party that night when the lunch hour arrived, one of their number an always-on-hand-when-eats-or-drinks are on nigger went below to bring up the Bud. In a few moments the others were startled by the sudden appearance of the messengers, who discovered spooks in the cellar and fled. Nothing could induce the nigger to go below again, but the combined courage of the others brot the beverage out of hiding and hid it again quickly.

Roy Cropper returned Wednesday afternoon from a trip to Lewis' Mill near Glasgow where he viewed and accepted a bridge over the Chariton river. The bridge has a 150 foot span and is the very last bridge that bridges the Chariton before it empties into the rolling, troublesome maelstrom of the Missouri. It required about two days to make the trip whereas if roads were good it could be done in a few hours as the distance is only about 15 miles by wagon road. Therefore, Mr. Cropper mourned the roughness and dampness of the thoroughfares.

Mexico Opera House Burned

The Ferris Grand Opera House at Mexico, Mo. was destroyed by fire Tuesday night causing a loss of $20,000. The building was insured for $5,000. The theatre was built 25 years ago at a cost of $17,000 and at that time was the largest theatre between Kansas City and St. Louis. No traveling companies made the west at that time and a stock company from Kansas City and Missouri was secured, to open the house, playing the first week. On one night of the opening week the house did $1375.00 worth of business.

The Union Revival Service

The union revival service is being conducted this week at the Presbyterian church and good congregations have been in attendance. The interest is deepening and the influence of the meetings is widening. The ministers of the participating churches are laboring earnestly and preaching strong sermons. The service will continue through this week at the Presbyterian church. All the pastors will conduct services in their own churches Sunday morning and unite in the union services at the Presbyterian church Sunday evening. The services next week will be held in the Methodist church.

Half Million in Gifts

Finley Shepard of St. Louis and Helen Gould of Tarrytown, N. Y. were married according to schedule Wednesday afternoon.

The wedding presents exceeded a half million dollars in value, which added to the several millions of Miss Gould, will supply them with necessities of life if they don't get extravagant and use meat 3 times a day.

Mrs. Shepard has ever been an unpretentious, sensible, charitable woman, and has reached the age when reason will undoubtedly control her domestic life. Her servants witnessed her wedding, and more poor people from their hearts wished her a joyful wedded life than ever felt concern over the union of wealth and ambition. If all rich girls would but be truly American and christian—but some are neither and can't help it.

I HAVE STARTED SOMETHING

Being determined not to carry over Xmas Goods, and finding some of the finest and most expensive ones hard to dispose of at this season of the year, I am putting up one at a time—in the window or somewhere in the store on display—marking it at the selling price AND REDUCING it 25c each day it remains here, until it goes. Watch for them as I put them up, and if you want it at any price figure what day to call for it at your price, and if it's still here you'll get it.

IT'S GOING

A Beautiful 3-Piece Toilet Set was the first I put up. The original selling price up to the day I started it was $8.00. It is being marked down 25c each day it remains here, and if here today it will be only $6.50. Better take it if you want a bargain. I have no duplicate, but will put up something else in the same way when this is sold.
